

THOUGHTS ON CONCEPTION AND ABORTION

By LEON WILCYNski

- “There was only one moment in all of time (In all of eternity) that any of us could have come into existence.” Yes, it’s true! And later in this article, you will find out why.

This is a rewrite of an article I wrote over a year ago about conception. With the upcoming election and the role, the subject of abortion will affect, I challenge you to read this article, absorb the following, and think about it thoughtfully.

We all think about many different subjects, food, friends, and travel and I have often thought about what you might call unorthodox subjects like (CONCEPTION}. And then try to learn more about them or even debate them with a few of my friends. This paper is a call to THINK.

Why would anyone want to learn more about Conception?

There is more than one reason, if you are a believer, it will help you understand God’s plan for you. If you are a non-believer, it will give you some facts about the unique process that brought you into existence.

The following is a mind-boggling fact.

There was only one moment in all creation, in all of TIME, in all ETERNITY, that any of us could have come into existence. That moment was a mathematical miracle that is very difficult to understand. Understanding conception is about mathematics and mind-boggling odds. We have all won the lottery of life and was it just unbelievable luck or part of God’s miraculous plan?

To prepare you for understanding conception following are some facts and information for you to be aware of and then we can proceed to think about conception. Let’s start slow.

Being human we all have some remarkable traits.

One trait is the ability to choose or take things for granted. The following are some examples. Especially (in regard) to many of the common things we live with daily.

The immensity of the Universe and its uniqueness are apparent all around us and we often fail to appreciate or think about it.

Snowflakes, (Part of a grand design or coincidence) Most of us at a young age are taught that no two snowflakes are alike. Has it ever sunk in how many trillions of snowflakes there are in any given winter?

Fingerprints, no two fingerprints are alike. (Even identical twins have different fingerprints). All humans have this singular unique, exceptional, feature.

Sand, no one grain of sand is alike. And how much sand is there in the world? 500 quadrillion grains? This is incomprehensible, and yet Carl Sagen the respected astronomer has stated that there are more stars in the universe than sands on our beaches! (WOW!).

I really can’t comprehend any of these numbers, but this is a real part of the universe in which we exist and there are other examples.

But pause a minute, and let this information sink in. Now I think we are ready to discuss the sacred miracle of CONCEPTION.

Let's go back to my original statement.

Every human being ever conceived has had only one chance to exist, only one moment, in all the time that has passed since creation, and that applies to all other humans until the end of time.

Remember how everything in the universe is UNIQUE! Like, sand, fingerprints, and stars. Every sperm is unique despite the infinite number of sperm that were ever present in our universe. Only one sperm was potentially you. Any other of the millions of sperms would have been someone else. The moment of conception was so miraculous that it was that ONE individual sperm that at that ONE time and only ONE time allowed you to exist. Remember even at the actual moment of conception there were thousands of sperm present ready to fertilize that one egg that appears only once a month and bring to life a human being, but that human being would not have been you because you would never have existed. Yes, that moment, that millisecond was like a tremendous explosion in the universe and your being came into existence,

Even more mindboggling is the fact that your existence is eternal.

Eternity is probably as difficult to understand as grains of sand. Grains of sand are finite, Eternity is infinite.

This is some heavy stuff to assimilate and even as I write this my limited human mind can only grasp parts of this reality.

If you don't believe in God, most of these facts may just run off like water on a duck's back. But for those of us with the gift of faith, we begin to see what a miracle conception is. I believe that in heaven our conception will be celebrated much more joyously than our birthday.

Remember this verse from the bible.

JEREMIAH 1:5 "I knew you before you were formed in the womb"

Does what you just read, give you some idea of the infinity of God? It gave me a sudden chill to realize how powerful God is.

So, what does this all mean?

I hope it gives you a deeper understanding of sacred Procreation.

I hope it gives you a deeper understanding of Conception.

I hope it gives you a deeper understanding of God's infinite power.

I hope it gives you a deeper understanding of why abortion is wrong.

If there is no God and no eternity then why not abort babies, but if there is a God and an eternity we are tampering with some extremely serious plans. In essence, Procreation is being a partner with our creator.

Like so many wonderous things in our universe, don't take this subject lightly.

Think about it, meditate on it, and pray about it.

Do you believe God knew you before you were formed in the womb, if you do you can start to understand how omnipotent God is.

Harden, not your hearts! Open your mind to this wonderful miracle. Our beliefs are nurtured by faith and what you are reading can give your life a more purposeful meaning.

Now if you just don't believe in God. Hopefully, this message will still resound and give you some idea of how lucky and special you are. You exist despite the unbelievable odds against you. Like snowflakes, we are all very, special, and unique, Think about it. Live it.

Again, I am reluctant to believe I can change anyone's mind about abortion because it is such a complex, emotional, and difficult subject to debate and reason.

But, please consider this.

If you believe in God, eternal life, and the miracle of your conception.

How can you presume you have the right to destroy an unborn baby's life?

Abortion has become a convenience that no human should have the willingness to perform.

However common reasoning dictates that abortions will continue in the USA and throughout the world. So, is there any practical answer?

The current culture claims a woman has the right to decide what she wants to do with her body. The dichotomy is whether she has the right to destroy the other body (her baby?)

Evidently, the baby has no rights.

The sad thing is that 95% of abortions are not performed for medical reasons.

Number 1 is financial

Number 2 is timing

Number 3 is partner

The lowest on the list is medical reasons

Since I don't think we can stop abortions (BECAUSE PRO-ABORTION POPULATION) is greater than 50% of the population, we must not give up trying. I wish I had a great solution. I don't. So, what can we do if we are pro-life,

Vote for pro-life candidate

We can all pray for solutions.

Find ways to educate the PRO-ABORTION POPULATION.

Spread the word about the miracle of conception and continue to influence the younger generation.

I don't know how much of an effect this article will have but please share it with as many people as possible.
